

START INVESTIGATION INTO PLANE ACCIDENT

AIRPLANE HITS ROW OF AUTOS; SIX ARE KILLED

Bombing Plane Scatters Death and Injury at Moundsville.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN State and Federal Probes Are Now Under Way.

Washington, July 11.—Although Secretary of War Weeks has not received an official report on the airplane
disaster at Moundsville yet, he stated that it appeared that it was due to "stunt" flying to which he is greatly opposed.
The secretary indicated that drastic action may be taken
following the receipt of the official report if it is shown that
"stunt" flying was responsible
and that an order may be issued preventing army aviators
from flying over crowds.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 11.—State and federal investigations into
the tragedy at Langin field, Glendale,
in which six were killed and forty wounded when a big Martin bomber
crashed into a row of automobiles, Sunday, will start today. The federal investigation will get under way immediately upon the arrival of General Mitchell and officers
from Washington and Dayton, Ohio,
while Colonel J. T. McCombs of Moundsville viewed the bodies of the dead this morning as a preliminary to the state inquiry.

Just how the accident occurred
is still as much a mystery as within a few minutes after the tragedy, as Lieutenant D. H. Dunton and Lieut.
C. R. MacIver have declined to make any statement until arraigned
before the formal investigators.

The casualties are:
Mrs. G. W. Long, 55, Moundsville
Ralph Hartsell, 13, Moundsville.
Carl Pettit, 16, Moundsville.
Fred Edge, 35, Round Bottom,
W. Va.

Leo Marski, 9, Moundsville.
The injured:
Stanley Patrick, Leonard Darrach,
Mrs. George Mertz, Miss Mary Ru-long, Mrs. George Stephens and daughter Elsie and Frank E. Taylor
all of Moundsville.

The big Martin bomber was enroute from San Antonio to Washington. A crowd of spectators gathered at Moundsville at 2:15 yesterday afternoon to watch them hop
off. As the machine started to take the air, it darted directly toward a line of automobiles and when less than nine feet from the ground
took a nose dive, tore through the automobiles crushing them and their occupants and as it came to rest three minutes afterwards, the fuel tank exploded, showering burning gasoline over the wreckage for an area of fifty feet. Fifteen automobiles were destroyed. The two aviators, who were accompanied by Mechanic M. E. Conwell escaped injury.

Ralph Hartsell standing upon the running board of a machine had his neck broken. Carl Pettit had his skull crushed and died on the way to a hospital.

Spectators who escaped the tragedy declare that the left motor was not hitting properly causing the machine to swerve from its course and into the autos.

Mrs. Long, one of the dead, was almost cremated and the majority of the injured sustained burns.

START INVESTIGATION

Moundsville, W. Va., July 11.—
One death during the night brought the fatalities today to six resulting from the crash of a government owned Martin bomber plane into a row
of parked automobiles here Sunday.
A coroner's investigation of the accident, one of the most serious in American aeronautics, was to be started today. Lieut. C. R. MacIver, who piloted the plane, was slightly burned by flaming gasoline. Neither MacIver nor Lieut. E. H. Dunton have been arrested. MacIver had risen about 30 feet when the plane
swung sharply to the left and seemed about to strike a hangar and an apparent effort was made to throw the plane into the Ohio river on MacIver's left, but the plane was flying too low and crashed into a number of automobiles parked along the bank. But 40 feet from where the plane came to a halt was a shed containing 2,000 pounds of dynamite.

ARMISTICE NOW OFFICIALLY IN EFFECT IN ERIN

Reply of DeValera to Lloyd George is Satisfactory.

London, July 11.—Eamonn De-Valera, president of the Irish republic
will come to London on Thursday for a conference with premier Lloyd George on Irish peace, it was announced officially this afternoon.

London, July 11.—The reply of Eamonn DeValera, "president of the Irish republic" to Premier Lloyd George's message regarding a conference in London this week was received at Downing Street this morning. It was stated that DeValera's message was satisfactory, but the text was withheld until the premier spoke in commons. The premier
in his message to DeValera had said
"he would be happy to receive the republican leader and his colleagues
and day this week."

Dublin, July 11. (Noon).—The armistice between the Irish republican army and the British crown
forces now is officially in effect in Ireland.

The attention of Ireland is now turned from military matters to the proposed peace conference.

Eamonn DeValera, "president of the Irish republic," has received a telegram from Premier Lloyd George saying:

"I have received your letter of acceptance and shall be happy to see you and any colleagues whom you may wish to bring with you at Downing street any day this week."

It is believed that DeValera will be accompanied by Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein and two unionists—Sir Maurice Dockrell and Sir Robert Woods. Richard Mulcahey, so called chief of the general
staff of the Irish Republican army,
said he would not go to London.

FARMERS OF OHIO AGREE TO BAN USE OF HALF BREDS

Columbus, July 11.—During June 14th, Ohio farmers signed pledges
never again to have "scrub" sire
bird or beast, on their farms, and
to use only pure-bred bulls, stallions,
rams, jacks, boars and roosters in the future.

This was announced here yesterday
by the department of animal husbandry of Ohio State University as one of the results of the state-wide pure-bred sire contest, carried on by state and federal agricultural agencies during the past month.

The drive was conducted in 11
counties under local leadership of the county agents. In Hardin County alone 704 farmers signed declarations
against half-bred animals. Belmont County, where 154 signed, was second and Licking County finished third with 146 signers.

The drive represented a regional speeding up of the effort long forwarded by federal agricultural authorities to do away with "our cattle"
and mongrel poultry on American farms. It is thought that with 1,400
Ohio farmers newly pledged to keep nothing but pure breeds this state will stand well to the front in scrub eradication efforts.

Prizes Given Youngsters
The contest element was stressed
by enrolling farm boys and girls as crusaders and by offering prizes to the five children securing the greatest number of pledges. The first prize, $100 given by an undergraduate organization at the university, goes to Edward F. Bailey, Tacoma, Belmont County who enrolled 131 farmers. The next four prizes a series of pure bred sires, given by leading stockmen of Ohio, went to Paul Pfeiler, Reed Williams Leo Siemon and Edward Parnell all of Hardin County.

Farmers who signed the pledge
will receive a stock census sheet
from the university, and after they have filled this out, will be eligible for a certificate from the federal department showing that "only pure-bred sires are used on this farm."

ORDER RESTORED IN IRELAND FOLLOWING WEEK-END VIOLENCE COSTING ELEVEN LIVES

Belfast, July 11.—Order was generally restored today following a violent outbreak of local week end rioting in which more than 11 persons were killed. Some desultory firing was reported but the soldiers
and policemen claimed to have the situation well in hand.

PRINCIPALS AND DEVICES USED IN ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECKING.

Attempts to wreck two fast Pennsylvania passenger trains near Xenia
last Monday night, which if successful might have cost scores of lives was frustrated by detectives of the railroad. Two colored boys John Crawford, 17, and Wilbur Honaker, 17, confessed to the act following their arrest and are now in the State Reformatory at Mansfield,
serving an indeterminate sentence.

The picture shows the principals
and the paraphernalia used in the incident. Lieutenant Charles Mack-red, and Detective Cliff Latimer of the P. R. R. police force are shown standing behind the tie which was used by the boys in the first attempt to wreck train No. 235 which is due in Xenia from Columbus at 6:31 p.

m. The plates and pieces of iron used in the second attempt to derail
train No. 297 due here from the east at 7:15 p. m. are shown placed on the rails. The insert on the left is that of Wilbur Honaker and that on the right that of John Crawford
both of whom admitted their part in the deed, authorities said.

To Detective Latimer goes the credit of discovering the first attempt and the subsequent finding

of the second try in time to prevent an accident to the fast train. Latimer noticed the pilot of the engine
of train No. 235 was damaged when it arrived in Xenia and with Lieutenant Mackred immediately investigated, finding the second attempt about a mile east of Xenia. Twenty-four hours later the boys were arrested by Policemen Simms. The above picture was taken on a siding
near the station where the wrecking material was laid out similar to the way it was originally found by the detectives and photographed for the Gazette and Republican.

France Asks Reservations On Pacific Ocean Issues

Country Will Welcome International Conference Providing For Disarmament as Proposed by President Harding, It Is Thought.

note, proposing a conference of the powers for discussion of disarmament
and far east problems.

"If France was not enthusiastic Paris, July 11.—France will undoubtedly welcome an international conference providing for disarmament
such as is proposed by President Harding it was stated in semi-official circles today.

Officials pointed out, however,
that France may make reservations
regarding the discussion of far east
and Pacific ocean issues.

The foreign office early this afternoon had not yet received the official text of President Harding's

over the recent British proposals
for the Anglo French alliance it was because we saw in the project
a maneuver against America," said
Henri Dejeuvel, editor of the Matin in an article today.

"If England, as the ally of Japan,
realizes her dream for a petroleum
trust at the same time assuring herself of magnificent French naval bases she would render the American fleet useless, in the meantime
having divided Europe against herself and separated America from Europe and Asia. England under those circumstances would be mistress of the Pacific as well as the Atlantic.

DROWNS AS BOAT OVERTURNS IN POND NEAR JAMESTOWN

William Schelichter, 38, Unable to Swim, is drowned.

Unable to swim, William Schel-
ichter, aged 38, of Fayette county,
was drowned when the boat in which he was rowing with William Coil, was overturned in a deep pond
in a gravel pit near Pleasant Grove
about three miles east of Jamestown, Friday evening.

Coil who was also unable to swim struggled to shore, and gave the alarm. Frank Glover plunged in and dragged out the body of Schelichter after it had been in the water about half an hour. Experts at resuscitation were in vain. Dr.
J. N. French of Jamestown responded to the call for a physician.

Coil said that he and his companion were engaged in a friendly
scuffle in the boat when the little craft overturned.

The accident occurred about forty yards from the Schelichter home.
The victim of the drowning was married and leaves his widow and two children.

FIRES INTO CROWD; MAN FATALY HURT

Columbus, July 11.—When a group of colored men turned down
his offer to take them on his truck
to a baseball game believing he was intoxicated, Edward Wade, 39, colored, fired into the crowd. Charles Turpin 27, negro, is believed fatally
wounded, a bullet entering his abdomen, passing through his body.

The other men ran, escaping injury.
When Patrolman Edward Winger
entered Wade's home, 281 Kimball Street, Wade's dog bit him on legs
and hands. The dog was killed.

After an exciting chase, marked
by the exchange of numerous shots
Wade was captured.

SHOT BY BANDIT, DEPUTY MAY DIE

Columbus, July 11.—Shot by a bandit, Samuel J. Mautz, farm hand and deputy sheriff is believed fatally hurt. Although his home is in Cleveland, Mautz was employed
on a farm near here.

He was in an automobile with Miss Hannah Patterson, Columbus
stenographer, when two bandits
held them up on the Weisheimer road, northwest of this city. When Mautz refused to hold up his hands
one highwayman shot him. Both bandits fled. Miss Patterson was not hurt. Mautz was operated on at Grant hospital.

ENGLAND WILL ACCEPT HARDING DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE PROPOSAL

DYING WORDS OF KABER IMPLICATE WIDOW IN CRIME

Nurse Testifies on Stand as to Scene Following Murder.

Courthouse, Cleveland, July 11.—
The state today withdrew the first count in the indictment charging Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber with attempting to poison her husband, Daniel Kaber, wealthy Cleveland publisher.

Judge Bernon overruled a motion
of the defense to strike out the
"poison" evidence on the ground it indicated premeditation and conspiracy.

"We introduced the 'poison' evidence simply to prove premeditation
and conspiracy," said County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton, later.

"The county charges that Kaber
was killed by poison. We never expected to prove that."

"We have sufficient evidence to prove that Kaber died from stab wounds and to send his widow to the electric chair."

Dr. P. A. Jacobs, who performed
the autopsy on Kaber's body will testify Thursday to prove the "corpus delicti," and to support the state's charges that the publisher died from his stab wounds, not from exhaustion
as the defense claims. Jacobs is now in Blackwoods, Ont., Canada.

Courthouse, Cleveland, O., July 11.—
The dying words of Daniel Kaber, wealthy Cleveland publisher as he lay in a pool of blood after an assassin's dagger had stabbed his body,
were repeated on the witness stand
today by the first man to reach his bedside, adding one more link to the chain of evidence against his widow, Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber, who faces the electric chair as alleged arch conspirator in the plot to murder him.

"The man with the cap did this,
Mrs. Kaber had it done," the dying man told F. W. Utterbach, his nurse,
the latter testified.

"I was on the third floor of the Kaber house when I heard Kaber
yell: 'Come, Utterbach, come! Murder!'"

"When I rushed down stairs I found Kaber on the floor by his bed
in a mass of blood. Then he told about the man with the cap and accused Mrs. Kaber."

Salvatore Cala, who has confessed
he figured in the murder plot as "the man with the cap" has refused to testify for the state, it was learned today.

The name of Miss Anna Baehr,
daughter of a former mayor of Cleveland, prominent socially and a former Smith college student, was brought into the trial for the first time
through Utterbach's testimony.

He said the young woman was spending the night with the accused woman's daughter, Marian McArdle,
also a former Smith college student,
when Kaber was stabbed.

Mrs. Kaber had gone to the summer home of her sister two days before the murder, Utterbach testified.
According to the state this had been arranged by her and the hired assassins to enable them execute more smoothly their plans to "fake" a robbery.

B. & O. TO ISSUE REFUNDING BONDS

Washington, July 11.—The interstate commerce commission today
authorized the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company to issue not exceeding $1,624,000 of refunding and general mortgage six percent bonds for pledge and repledges until otherwise ordered as collateral security for any note or notes which may be issued by the carrier under the provisions of the interstate commerce act.
Nine subsidiaries of the Baltimore and Ohio were also granted authority to issue various bonds upon the order of the parent company to the trustees under certain mortgages.

ASKS SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE TO REPEAL RESOLUTIONS TO SUBMIT TAX

Columbus, O., July 11.—Governor
Davis has been requested by W. W.
Durbin, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, to convene
the state legislature in special session for the purpose of repealing
the resolutions providing for submission at the November election of proposed amendments to the state constitution providing for a poll tax, and authorizing state officials and employees to serve in the Ohio national guard.
"The people are strongly opposed to these amendments for several reasons," declared Chairman Durbin.
"First, the poll tax was described by the constitution of 1851 as 'grievous
and oppressive' and is so considered by
a great majority of the people today;
second, the progressive constitutional convention of 1912 submitted the repeal, which the people endorsed, and even the old personal work road tax;
third, the poll tax proposition is a cowardly and unbecoming effort to dodge the blame for failure to submit anything constructive in the way of taxation."

Great Britain Cordially Receives Plan Offered by America.

IS DELICATE TASK

World Issues at Stake in Plan to End Armaments.

London, July 11.—Premier Lloyd George, in addressing the house of commons this afternoon pledged the support of the British Empire to President Harding's efforts to bring about a great international conference for the discussion of far east problems
and the reduction of armaments.

London, July 11.—President
Harding's proposal for a disarmament
conference to be held in Washington has been cordially received in Great Britain and the prediction was made in responsible quarters today that Great Britain
will accept.

The American ambassador, George
Harvey, held a forty minute conference this morning with Marquis Curzon, the foreign secretary. The subject of their conversation was not revealed but it is assumed that it referred to President Harding's offer.

Premier Lloyd George was understood to have been occupied the most of the morning grafting a speech accepting President Harding's proposal. It was expected that the premier would make known his acceptance in his promised speech
in commons this afternoon on the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

There can be no doubt that President Harding's proposal will be promptly and gladly accepted by the British government with the full concurrence of the dominions
in the same spirit in which it was made," said the London Times.

"The task for the proposed conference will be as delicate and unless it be discerningly approached
as that which any conference has ever essayed to discharge.

"Not even the peace conference
at Paris had to face issues vaster
or more fraught with great possibilities for good or evil, to the world.

"If the Pacific conference be held no caution can be too great in the preparations of its agenda and in the preliminary negotiations which would be held to reach preliminary agreements upon the issues contained in the agenda. Only when such preliminary solutions are found can the conference be formally convened. Otherwise it might fail and failure might be the prelude to disaster.

"President Harding's message
surpasses in importance all other current doings of whatever moment
may have been attached to them.

"Addressed, as it is, to all the greatest states in the world it is practically an appeal to the human race to have gone with wars.
Though it mentions the Pacific and far eastern problems, it goes far beyond these aims."

"Britain will respond gladly to the call," predicted the Daily Express. "Limitation of armaments
and a far eastern settlement mean permanent peace and will remove every jarring factor in Anglo-American relations, now attributable to our position towards Japan."

The Daily Telegraph called President Harding's decision an "act of the first historical significance."

HARDING TO DELIVER MESSAGE PERSONALLY

Washington, July 11.—President Harding probably will deliver his forthcoming message to congress on the soldier bonus and legislative situation in person, it was stated at the White House today.

No final date was forthcoming
as to the date of the message but it is believed that it will be delivered
early in the present week.

REGULARS ABSENT

Cleveland, July 11.—The Martin
bomber which crashed at Moundsville, W. Va., causing six deaths to bystanders, had recently undergone
some repairs and was not in charge
of regular Martin plane schooled
aviators, Glenn L. Martin, airplane manufacturer said today.

"They were not regular Martin
bomber plane pilots," he said, "but they were good men, I think. The ship had been at our factory about 30 days for minor repairs. The machine was being taken to Washington."

Between 300 and 400 are expected to attend the picnic and trip to Dayton, Wednesday, of the Greene County Automobile Club according to predictions made, early Monday, by Dr. A. C. Messenger president of the club. Fifteen machine loads are expected from Jamestown, eight from Bowersville, four from Cedarville, which with 40 loads from Xenia that are now fully expected will run the total past the 300 mark.

The procession of machines which will make the trip will move away from the Chamber of Commerce promptly at 11 a. m. Wednesday, advises Dr. Messenger who urges that drivers have their cars at the appointed place before that time in order to be properly tagged and numbered. The service car that will accompany the picnicers will furnish help in case of trouble free of charge.

Thompson, on the eve of his departure for Niagara Falls, to join the international commission which will inspect the route of the proposed St. Lawrence deep waterway project.

ASSORTED NUTS

WITH THE OHIO SOLONS

C. C. WALTERMIRE, CORRESPONDENT OHIO REPUBLICAN EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Columbus, July 11.—Republican politics seems to be the all absorbing topic of the hot weather. This includes not only the methods of policies that will insure efficiency and economy but also the matter of federal and state appointments.

Governor Davis is making his appointments under the reorganization law and is securing the services of some highly capable men and women to administer the affairs of the state in a business like manner.

In selecting the members of his cabinet, Governor Davis has picked those who he believes are best fitted by training to successfully administer the affairs which come under their particular departments.

The same is true in the selection of men and women for federal places.

The federal positions which occupy the most prominent place in the minds of Ohioans at this time is the appointment of a Dry Commissioner for Ohio to succeed John Shearer.

During the months that the eighteenth amendment has been in force, there have been many views expressed as to how the Prohibition Law can be best enforced. Only a short time ago a prominent enforcement officer gave out a statement that there are thousands of stills and thousands of beer making appliances in use in Ohio.

As far as the Republican party in Ohio is concerned, it hopes that this appointment will go to some Republican stalwart who has a grasp of the situation and who will be able not only to administer this law effectively but whose appointment will bring into the service men of high standing and ability.

At the present time the position of State Dry Commissioner seems to be between former Congressman J. E. Russell, of Sidney, and Roy Carpenter, a Steubenville attorney.

Rumor has it that the Anti-Saloon League is friendly to Carpenter, while Republicans and county committees in more than thirty counties have endorsed Mr. Russell. In addition to these endorsements, letters urging the appointment of Mr. Russell have been sent in by prominent men from all parts of Ohio. It is quite a compliment to him that Republicans generally, realizing the necessity of a strong man in this position, have confidence in his ability to administer this office with credit to himself and his party.

As a member of the State Senate, Mr. Russell cast the deciding vote in favor of the Rose County Option Law. He also supported the law which restricted the traffic in liquor from residence districts. He voted dry on every measure before the Senate.

As a member of Congress, Mr. Russell voted for the bill which made the District of Columbia dry. He was the first Republican elected to Congress from the Fourth Congressional District. So much for his dry record.

As a lawyer and business man, Mr. Russell ranks among the foremost in his section of Ohio. His general ability, fitness and availability are being urged at Washington by those who know him best, and it is the general opinion in political circles that he will be the next dry commissioner of Ohio, although Senator Willis has not made known his choice.

It was largely through the influence of Mr. Russell that Willis carried the fourth Congressional District when he was elected Governor in 1914.

Mr. Carpenter is a former prosecuting attorney of Jefferson County and has aided in many prosecutions for the Anti-Saloon League.

He also is an upstanding citizen.

INFANT DIES AT TREBEINS SUNDAY

Baby Fussed All the Time

Sykes Comfort Powder Healed Its Skin & Stopped All Fussing

Lawrence, Mass. — "My oldest child was badly chafed, fussed all the time, and the only way I could do anything with him was to keep soft cloths next to his skin. I tried several powders but nothing helped him until I heard of Sykes Comfort Powder. I cannot recommend it too highly because it has healed the skin affections of my children after everything else had failed, and stopped all fussing." — Mrs. E. L. Green, Lawrence, Mass.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

It is said that a match between Georges Carpentier and Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul, is now being arranged for Labor Day. They both weigh 172 pounds in fighting trim. Gibbons has now run off thirteen consecutive knockouts, among whom were Willie Meehan, in one round. Meehan holds two referee's decisions over Champion Jack Dempsey. Photo shows Gibbons using one of his favorite punches, a left jab.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

The Thing Can Still Be Done. . . Three types of men have to do with the building of the world—the starter, the finisher, and the one who starts and goes right through and does the finishing himself.

I have in mind a man who started one of the most stupendous undertakings ever attempted, just as the war broke. Full of vision, shrewd, energetic and with that faith which only experience can give he had no trouble in getting associated with him many of the ablest moneyed men in America and the world.

His concern grew into millions of dollars in trade, and was known wherever there was any commerce at all worth while.

Then the war ended. The money system of the world faltered like a hard-pressed human being under stress.

Partners withdrew. The stock of the once great concern shrunk to practically nothing. But there was one man who stood by—the man who started the idea and the concern. And after pledging every cent he had in the world—amounting to millions—like a sea captain, he stood erect and strong while his once great ship of business sank into a receivership.

I can see the fine, square jaw of this man, his straight forward looking eyes, his firm set mouth. And this is what he is saying:

"The thing can still be done!"

I read about this young man at the height of his career. He is only 46 years old now. His name is George A. Gaston. He will be heard of again. When a man of his character says that a thing can be done it will be done. And he will be the man to do it.

A whole financial system may give way, a country may be left in ashes, but with a few Gastons around, there is bound to be put together a better and stronger world that will rise above ruin and be greater than any former success.

If YOU can say that the thing can still be done it won't matter how many millions say that it can't!

A Poor Man Who Will Die Rich

In one of the recent magazines I read a most interesting interview with Dr. Russell H. Conwell. When I was in high school I went to hear him give his lecture on "Acres of Diamonds." Much of what this great man said is now fresh in my mind.

But this is the important thing about Dr. Conwell. He is a distributor of wealth—and, in my opinion, a much greater philanthropist than Carnegie or Rockefeller.

"At the close of every month," says Dr. Conwell, "I pay my debts, balance my books, and then give away the balance!"

And when I tell you that this man has earned about $50,000 a year for on toward half a century and has always lived simply himself, you get an idea of his real character. They tell me that he has aided around 5,000 boys in their club toward success.

As he himself has put it, in another way, he has invested his "fortune in folks" and his "money in men."

Outside his life insurance, Dr. Conwell confesses that he probably has not a thousand dollars to his name. What is better or more satisfying than to come to the end of the lane of life with your wealth all distributed—doing happy business in hearts of people?

And your wealth consists not alone in what you give to others in dollars but in what you give to them in inspiration, ideas, encouragement.

When Dr. Conwell dies, people will talk about the wealth that he left—millions will have been given a legacy!

To grow rich, keep giving away.

The investment that you make in men will never fall below par—and the dividends will keep rolling in no matter what the times or conditions.

Rich investments are awaiting action on your part right this very minute!

James A. Stillman, the central figure in the now famous Stillman divorce case, finally consented to face the camera. He was somewhat glum about it, but stood the ordeal gamely. PRESIDENT HARDING HAS TO TAKE A STEP WHICH HE AND THE WHOLE COUNTRY DEPLORES.

An Administration drive against enactment of the soldier-bonus legislation at this time has assumed real proportions. President Harding, it is learned, has urged Senator Lodge and Representative Mondell, respectively the Senate and the House leaders, to defer action until early in 1922 if possible.

A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, sent to Senator Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, a letter which was read in the Senate, protesting more vigorously than did his predecessors of the Wilson Administration—Secretaries Houston and Glass—against passage of the bill, which now is pending in the Senate.

We give some extracts from Secretary Mellon's letter, which show the importance, or we might say, the absolute necessity of deferring action on the bonus bill at this time, as follows:

"The most conservative estimates show that the bill would cost from about $1,500,000,000 (if the bulk of the payments were on account of adjusted service pay, the greater part of which would fall in the near future) to about $5,250,000,000 (if most veterans elected to take adjusted service certificates, the payments on which would be distributed over a period of twenty years). The actual cost of the bill should fall between these two extremes, according to the choice of plan made by the veterans. If, as seems probable, at least one-half should elect the cash-payment plan and about one-half the certificate plan, with one-third of the latter borrowing on their certificates, the ultimate cost of the bill, it is estimated, would be more than $3,330,000,000.

"These estimates, incomplete as they are, show the heavy obligations to which the pending bill would commit the country. To impose these vast additional liabilities upon the Treasury, particularly under present conditions in industry and commerce, would, in my judgment, create a serious situation.

"As a matter of fact, a plan to disburse even over a period of years up to four or five billions of dollars as 'adjusted compensation' must inevitably increase by that much the war burden which the American people have to bear. It would greatly swell the cost of Government and virtually defeat the Administration's program of economy and retrenchment. It could be financed only by adding to the burden of debt and taxes under which the country is now staggering. However financed, no such sum could be taken out of the public treasury without throwing a corresponding load upon the whole people in the form of increased interest charges, increased taxes and increased cost of living.

"In these circumstances I believe that the best interests of the country demand that action be deferred upon the soldiers' bonus or the bill to provide so-called adjusted compensation. This is not a time to impose several billion dollars of new liabilities on an already overburdened treasury."

THE LEEDS JEWELS MAY BE SOLD TO AID GREECE.

The great jewel merchants are thrown into a panic over a well defined rumor that the collection of precious stones belonging to Princess Anastasia, of Greece, formerly Mrs. Leeds, are likely to be placed on sale in the open market.

The reasons assigned for the proposed sale are of great political significance. Princess Anastasia recently underwent two operations and now is living in Paris and is considering the likelihood of going under the surgeon's knife for the third time. The wedding of her eighteen-year-old son, William Leeds, Jr., with the Princess Xenia of Greece, has been postponed until Princess Anastasia's health will permit her to attend the ceremony. The greatest efforts are being made to preserve the life of the former Mrs. Leeds until the wedding, is a fact.

It now is well known that the Leeds money financed Constantine in his recent successful attempt to regain the Greek throne. It was not too costly—only $200,000—but changed into Greek drachms, they loomed large in the Grecian mind. Even so, that was not enough and Princess Anastasia recently has been confronted with the problem of supplying at least $500,000 more in order to keep things going.

Therefore, the question of selling the jewels—inasmuch as she cannot touch the principal of her fortune—has been a long struggle, but it now is declared that the question of her own health and her son's present happiness have influenced her to turn the jewels into cash so that the future ambitions of Greece may be realized.

The greatest ornament in the collection is the pearl necklace, which was made by Cartier, of Paris, and is admittedly the finest in the world. Twelve years were taken in gathering the pearls together and they now are valued in the neighborhood of 30,000,000 francs. In addition there are emeralds, sapphires and diamonds, the value of which can scarcely be estimated. It is reliably stated that the great jewel houses, rather than permit the famous pearl necklace to be dismantled, which would surely depreciate its value, have decided in case it is offered for sale to buy it at the price originally paid by the late Mr. Leeds, and thus the present high prices of precious stones will be maintained.

FRANCE PLANS TO RAISE COTTON IN AFRICA TO SUPPLY OWN NEEDS

France expects to make its big textile industry independent of the cotton of the United States by a vast irrigation project in Africa. A bill for this purpose has been introduced in the chamber of deputies by Minister of Colonies Sarraut. The plan will require the expenditure of about 250,000,000 francs for damming the Upper Niger in the French Sudan and irrigating 3,750,000 acres under an engineering scheme developed by a French commission.

AN EDITORIAL ON BUYING

Few women know that their staunchest commercial friend is a lowly utensil in newspaper offices called the Hell Box. For into the Hell Box goes anything that's useless or worthless—including advertising which is vicious or untrue.

Nowadays newspapers as well as most others of repute, maintain a rigid board of censorship of every line of advertising. They insist that they be clean and true, that it be a help and not a hindrance to readers.

The primary reason of the newspaper is a selfish one. You, the reader, are its customer. If either news or advertising offends or deceives you, you will take your patronage elsewhere. So a high-grade newspaper guards you on all sides—for its own benefit first; for you and the merchant next.

Accept advertising you see in this newspaper at its face value—it's gotten past the Hell Box!

Small-town women of America know advertising! More so than their sisters of the big city; they take it as the printed sales representative of the concern advertising and treat it accordingly. If they don't like its specifications or its price mark they say "No, you can't sell me to-day, Mr. Advertiser! Your colors are not right and your price is too high!" And they pass on to the next article that has a printed representative in the paper. In fifteen minutes perusal of the daily newspaper they have the city spotted, mentally, with great crimson circles labeled "Buy it today! It's a bargain!" One woman declares that she hasn't paid excessive price on anything for her home for so long she can hardly remember—simply through studying every last line of advertising—even through the classified sections. "Someone always has something to sell at a price that I want to pay!" she explains. "I can't spend all day running around looking for them—so I read advertising, thoroughly."

In these days, particularly, when women folks find themselves in absolute need of many things they've gone without for months, advertising is proving its worth.

Buyers find to their surprise, that prices are about back to normal in a long list of articles. If they're not at normal in one store, they are in another—and the advertising tells where.

Study your advertising as you would so many rectangles in a battle map; find out where your friend, the merchant, is making price attractive and, other things being equal, such as quality, concentrate your buying upon him. And don't forget that Hell Box! It means that when you see it advertised, whether it be prunes or autos, soap or macaroni, dry goods or mineral waters, it has passed the Hell Box and is worthy of your money.

DINNER STORIES

A school concert, or all things! Four little girls were dressed to represent the word "Star," and each hid one letter of that word attached to her snowy-white dress. Each letter began the verse of a touching little song.

"Now, my dears," said the mistress, "form yourselves in position, and wait until the curtain goes up."

The little girls did as they were told, and while the piano played the accompaniment the curtain went up.

Instead of applause to greet the little girls, howls from the audience met them.

"Rats!" was the word they spelt, not "Star."

A village minister in New England was called upon to go several miles into the country to officiate at the funeral of a farmer's wife. Arrived at the house of grief, the minister spoke the usual words of sympathy and condolence to the bereft husband.

"You have met with a great loss, brother."

"Yaas," was the reply, "an' it makes good the old sayin' that misfortunes never comes singly. I loss my bess hoss four days ago an' now she's gone. I tell ye I'm gettin' hit hard."

Several members of the woman's club were chatting with a little daughter of the hostess.

"I suppose you are a great help to your mamma," said one.

"Oh, yes," replied the little miss, "and so is Ethel, but it's my turn to count the spoons today after the company is gone."

A young man managed to get into conversation with a pretty girl during a railway journey. He was very pleased with himself, and when the train arrived at his destination he said to the girl:

"I'm afraid you wouldn't, perhaps, have been so nice if you'd known I was a married man."

"Oh, as to that," said the girl, "you have nothing on me. I'm an escaped lunatic."

Mabel and Ethel, having been engaged as clerks in the service of a bank, were instructed how to comply with the wishes of those customers who wrote asking to have their bankbooks made up and returned to them.

All went well for a time, but gradually their occasional five minutes' leave from the office broadened into half hours.

This caused some indignation among the male members of the staff, until one of them had a bright idea.

Mabel and Ethel, adjourning as usual to their cloakroom one morning for a quiet chat, were confronted with the following notice prominently across the mirror:

PERVERSE ANIMALS.

I ride in pomp and circumstance, in my large shining ambulance that cost three thousand bucks; with pride I drive my gorgeous rig, and now and then I squash a pig, or maim some hens and ducks. The road is paved and grows no grass, no chickenfeed or kindered sass, the critters to attract; yet, in their feeble minded way, they haunt the public road all day; they have no sense or tact. They'll leave the green and grassy plain, they'll quit the meadows, lush with grain, the orchard and the lawn, to loaf upon the dusty pike, until a rubber tire they strike, and then they're dead and gone. The cows will leave the grateful shade along the highway to parade, a strange, besotted band; and all the critters of the farm in naked asphalt find a charm that's hard to understand. By dell and spinney I proceed, past cocklebur and jimson weed, and by the roadside pool, by vagrant vine and clumps of gorse, and here and there I hit a horse, and now and then a mule. In vain this sort of dirge I sing; one can't do justice to this thing, thus briefly, in an ode; the pike with animals is dark, it seems to me that Noah's Ark was emptied in the road. I drive with stern, unceasing care, I watch the landscape everywhere, but it's of little use; for men must work and women weep, and now and then I kill a sheep, and now and then a goose.

Health Talks

EXCESSIVE SWEATING

What causes excessive sweating? Answer—Hyperidrosis is a functional disorder of the sweat glands in which the output is excessive. The general surface of the body may be affected; or only limited portions, as the palms of the hands, the soles of the feet, the arm pits and so on. The palms may be bathed in a profuse perspiration, even immediately after drying; and when the feet are affected they are wet, cold and have a disagreeable odor from the decomposing secretion.

In most cases the cause lies in intense nervousness or in disturbance of the emotional equilibrium. In many others, there is a systematic weakness. Here also, is one of the symptoms of tuberculosis. Naturally then, anybody greatly troubled with excessive sweating should be examined and have the cause ascertained.

The cure depends on the cause.

Coffee and tea are exciting and should therefore, be given up. If there is bodily weakness tonics are right, with regular habits, nutritious meals and the like. A powder made up of 5 per cent of salicylic acid in talcum powder is good to dust within the socks and shoes. Change the footwear frequently. At bedtime a grain of potassium permanganate, just enough to make a basin of water turn wine color makes an excellent foot bath. Get a dram of this drug at the drug store. For sweating hands occasional dipping into a solution of alum (a teaspoonful to a pint) would be right.

HENRY R. HANNIGER FORMERLY OF XENIA IS DEAD IN TEXAS

Word of the death of Henry R. Hanniger, former Xenian, and now of Bisbee, Arizona, was received in this city Monday morning. Mr. Hanniger died in a hospital at El Paso, Texas, where he had recently undergone an operation for asthma on Saturday.

Mr. Hanniger was a brother of Andrew, George and Miss Minnie Hanniger, of this city, and is well known among the older residents of Xenia. He left here about 40 years ago, accompanied by Henry Sinz of this city, for Bisbee, where they entered the restaurant business.

Through claims purchased from miners who patronized the restaurant Mr. Hanniger amassed a fortune in mining. His brother George Hanniger left for Bisbee about 30 years ago, to aid his brother in managing the business.

Mr. Hanniger had made visits to this city each summer during his stay in Bisbee and considered Xenia his home. He was never married and was about 60 years of age.

The body will arrive in this city on Wednesday. Funeral services will be announced later.

President Looks Regular Wild and Woolly Cow-puncher.

The invitation to President and Mrs. Harding to attend the famous "Frontier Days" Exposition at Cheyenne, Wyo., July 26-29 was evidenced in substantial form by a specially designed cowboy hat—a real cow-puncher's "four-gallon hat." Clipped around it with a knot of deer skin is a solid silver hatband, on which is engraved: "Wyoming extends greeting to President and Mrs. Harding, with the cordial invitation to be its guests at Cheyenne Frontier Days, July 26-29, when the days and the cowboy sports of the old West are revived."

GOLF AND HOW TO PLAY IT

By Chas. Chick Evans Jr.

Improving Your Game

Following my full iron practice the next part of my plan would be to hit twenty-four full mashie shots. That completed, I would go to one of the greens and throw one-half dozen balls into a bunker and hit them out to the best of my ability; then I would throw some half dozen more balls into some tough long grass and execute great care in playing them up to the hole. After this would come six run-up shots from just off two parts of the green. Then I would make twelve long putts apiece from opposite sides of the hole and this would be followed in like manner by twelve short putts. If after that strenuous work should happen to feel like practicing more, I would do so, but no matter what happened I would always complete my schedule of practice.

To a person of my temperament this sort of plan is steady; it is like having so much work to do and not feeling content until the job is finished. I do not, however, suggest that every man should undertake such a plan. As a matter of common sense we know that if a large number of golfers should congregate on the green and each that sort of practice every one's chance to play, or practice would undergo immediate curtailment. Circumstances must in all cases determine the amount of practice, and I think it very probable that individuals differ in the amount required. Indeed, my gospel of golf is that it must be an adaptation of a few fundamental principles to individuality. My articles are intended to set forth my own methods of practicing for big events.

Miss Alexa Stirling tells us that she has accomplished her own great achievements with comparatively little practice. Perhaps she is one of the fortunate few who need but little practice, or being an industrious musician she may hardly realize the amount of time she does give to practice, for good musicians are the most practiced people I know. Once when I was a very small child we had an apartment beneath that of a professional musician and the amount of time devoted to scales was past comprehension. The object of all practice, I suppose, is to make the work largely automatic, and to strengthen the muscles used for the work.

The golfer must practice his shots until he is fairly certain of being able to make them on demand. Whether much or little practice is necessary is an individual thing. The really important thing is to have a system, small or liberal, as the case must be, that must be carried out.

I endeavor to outline my own plan, but each man's business habits of rising, nearness to golf and condition of course must determine this. My own plan is a great pleasure to me and a great aid to health. It is hard to imagine any keener delight to a real golfer than the achievement of a good shot, and working for one is pure pleasure. The real joy of golf is not winning tournaments, it is playing the good shots.

STATE OFFICIAL WRITES REGRET

There aren't many men who would turn down an appointment to a state job but L. Steinfelds of this city is one of them.

Mr. Steinfelds was recently notified by H. A. Dykeman, state fire marshal, that he had appointed the Xenian an assistant in his department.

Mr. Steinfelds promptly declined the appointment after thanking the state official for his courtesy.

Replying to his message of declination, Mr. Dykeman wrote to Mr. Steinfelds: "It was with regret that I received your decision that you will not accept the position as assistant fire marshal. I am especially sorry for I had formed the impression that you would prove to be one of our most capable representatives."

Discussing the matter Monday, Mr. Steinfelds said: "I want nothing for myself. All our organization wishes is to have its friends taken care of."

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsey B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement, regarding reduction in prices.

In part he says: "The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low materials costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made the price reduction of two weeks ago possible."

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce, on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor."

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.

Lucky? Why, man, is the Human Horseshoe!

I CERTAINLY was born UNDER A lucky star. FOR INSTANCE the time, I HOOKED my bonds. TO PLAY the market. ON A sure thing tip. AND BOUGHT Slippery Ellum. AT SEVENTY-TWO. FOR A healthy rise. AND FOR seven days. I HUGGED the ticker. AND COULDN'T sleep. ONCE IT jumped two points. AND I walked on air. AND THAT very day. I SAW a sign. IN A cigar stand. THAT SAID "Satisfy." IT GAVE me a hunch. TO BE satisfied. WITH WHAT I'd got. AND NOT hog the deal. SO I phoned my broker. TO SELL me out. AND THE very next day. SLIPPERY ELLUM slipped. TO FIFTY-FIVE. SO NOW I've gotten. BACK MY bonds. AND BABY'S got new shoes. AND NOW my regular smokes. ARE THE cigarettes. THAT "SATISFY."

WHENEVER you get that "Satisfy" hunch, play it. Steer straight for the nearest stand and invest in Chesterfields. This combination of the Turkish tobaccos, blended with Burley and other Domestic leaf, will give you a new measure of cigarette enjoyment. You're in luck from that day on.

MRS. M. S. SMITH CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mary Huston Smith, wife of Matt S. Smith, superintendent of the Greene County Infirmary, passed away at her home at that institution, Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock, after an illness of several months, suffering from a complication of diseases. Mrs. Smith underwent an operation in March, which was thought to relieve her, but her condition gradually grew more serious.

Mrs. Smith was born in New Jasper, on October 27, 1864, being 57 years of age at the time of her death. Her parents were the late Margaret and George Huston of New Jasper. Mrs. Smith had spent all of her life in this county.

Her marriage to Mr. Smith was solemnized on December 31, 1879. She leaves two children, a daughter and son, Mrs. Horace Anderson and Harry Smith, both of whom reside in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have resided at the County Infirmary for a period of about 10 years. Mr. Smith first held the position of superintendent of the institution about three years, until Mrs. Smith's health necessitated their moving to their home in this city, where they spent about three years. Mrs. Smith's health improved and they again moved to the Infirmary, about seven years ago.

Mrs. Smith is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Nettie Sutton of New Jasper, a half brother Nelson Huston of Parker City, Indiana, and one grandchild, Bobby Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith.

Funeral services will be held at the Infirmary Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock, at which time burial will be made at Jamestown. Friends desiring to view the remains may call after 6 o'clock Monday evening.

Styles BY LENORE

If you really want to swim in your bathing suit, you will wish the simple smart type that does not hamper your movements, does not grow heavy, and will not tire you with a complication of frills that hold the water. In the much favored wool jersey and in surf satin are the more practical and inexpensive models, straight of line, with either "V" or round neck, a mere suggestion of sleeves or sleeveless and usually black. More expensive suits offer a choice of modes in black taffeta, satin and Canton crepe as interesting as those of the smartest street frocks.

One need not always wear black, however. There are suits in gay solid colors that will stand out like brilliant flowers on a stretch of sandy beach. Sometimes they are more subdued by mingling dark with bright shades, or one may melt into the blue green background of the changing sea in a suit of misty gray shown extensively in bathing attire.

As chic as a French creation is the very simple bathing frock illustrated. Note the intriguing little knickers. This design will look smart in any color, in taffeta, satin or Canton crepe, with the cording in self-material.

PATTERN NO. 205
A pattern for the above model (No. 205) can be obtained in sizes, 24, 26, 28, 30, or 40, by sending to Lenore, 8 West 40th Street, New York City, your name, address, the number of this pattern and the size required, and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks time.—The Editor.

TWO BOYS FACE MURDER CHARGE

Dayton, O., July 11.—Charges of delinquency were filed in juvenile court today and George Bayham, 9, and Vincent Hall, 10, held pending further investigation of the death a week ago of Henry Blevins 10, whose body was found in Bimms pond. William Stephenson, 9, who was first accused of the crime told Juvenile Judge Baggett today he struck Henry in the back of the head with an iron rod during a quarrel and that the other boys aided in stripping the body and throwing it in the water. The Stephenson boy had at first admitted and later denied being on the scene.

WOMAN HIT BY TWO AUTOS DIES

Cincinnati, July 11.—Mrs. Anna Lucke, 66, was killed Saturday night when she was hit by an automobile, tossed into the path of another machine and thrown upon the track in front of a street car. Mrs. Lucke was the widow of John H. Lucke, cigar manufacturer, who disappeared more than a year ago and whose body later was found floating in the water below Niagara Falls.

PAINFULLY HURT AS MACHINE RUN DOWN ON STREET

Mrs. L. A. Anderson of New Burlington pike sustained a severe gash in the face, Harry Weber, of West Market street, rural mail carrier out of the Xenia post office received a bruised knee, when Mr. Weber's car was struck by a machine said to be driven by William Moylen of Dayton, at Market and Mechanic streets early Saturday evening.

Mr. Weber was bringing Mrs. Anderson to Xenia to spend the weekend as Mrs. Weber's guest, when the accident occurred. He was driving west on Market street, on the right side of the thoroughfare. He declares that the other machine, going north on Mechanic street at a high rate of speed, struck the rear of his Ford Touring car with great force, crushing the back of the machine, and throwing Mrs. Anderson through the wind shield. Her mouth was severely cut, the gash laying open the gum, and exposing the roots of the front teeth. She was taken to the office of Dr. George Davis.

The driver of the machine which is said to have been responsible for the accident refused to give his name to Mr. Weber, and it is alleged he engaged in a fist fight with a bystander who accused him of driving recklessly. His car was not damaged.

CONVICTS CHOSEN FOR ROAD WORK

Columbus, July 11.—How would you like to have the job of picking out of 2305 penitentiary prisoners the 300 most worthy, suitable and safest for work outside the prison walls?

Warden Thomas has completed his list of the first 300 to be called for work on the Mt. Vernon-Wooster stretch of the Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati Road to be built by the state highway department.

The selection, of course, was by a process of elimination. First terms, of course, were given preference. Character of crime, prison behavior, previous employment, health, disposition and other factors entered into the consideration.

Ohio Woman Gains Twenty Pounds by Taking Tanlac and Is Like a Different Person.

"I went to every house in my neighborhood to tell them about Tanlac, because I think everybody ought to know how wonderful it is," said Mrs. Maud Miller who lives at Magadore, Ohio a few miles from Akron.

"I never in my life saw anything like the medicine. When I began taking it I was suffering from stomach trouble of the worst kind. I had no appetite and lived on the very lightest of foods. I also had an awful pain in my side. It hurt me constantly and I could hardly stand it."

"I wasted away until I was almost a shadow and was so weak and miserable life was a burden to me. I was almost ready to give up when by good luck I heard of Tanlac and started taking it. From that day on I began to improve. Why it's almost unbelievable the way I began building up."

"First my appetite and then my digestion improved and soon I could eat and digest anything. I gained 20 pounds in weight and my friends tell me that I am the picture of health. I certainly feel like I never had a sick day in my life. I don't believe there is a happier woman in Ohio than I am and it's all because this grand medicine has restored me to health."

"It's just foolish for people to suffer like I did when they can get Tanlac. I never expect to be without it. It's the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill.

BEAUTY CHATS

A New Eyelash Tonic
Sometimes I wonder at the great faith in human nature which will let a woman put anything on her hair or face or around her eyes which she sees written of or hears of in the most casual manner. To be sure, we have excellent laws these days, so that she is not apt to purchase anything harmful. But how is she to know that the stuff she is purchasing is any good for her particular ailment?

I want to advise my readers to be sceptical to inquire closely into the contents of everything they use. It isn't that I think they are apt to buy anything harmful, but simply that they are likely to waste money—which in these days of high prices, is a serious matter.

Take as an instance, the matter of eyelash tonics. These are difficult to make whatever is used is apt to get into the eyes, go only the most harmless ingredients are allowable. For some reason vaseline has had a great vogue as an eyelash grower. I never yet found a case where it did any good.

But there are several ingredients which do grow hair and which will not hurt, if by chance, they get into the eye. Cocoa butter and lanoline will grow hair, oil of sweet almonds is also nourishing. Therefore some combination of these would be certain to produce results. Out of this combination I have obtained the following formula which I can recommend highly.

Eyelash Tonic.
Cocoa butter, 1 dram; paraffin, 4 drams, lanoline one half dram Oil of sweet almonds (English) 4 drams, Rosol oil, 2 drops.

Reader.—There are small shaving sets that may be purchased for removing the hair under the arms. A chiropodist will remove the corns and treat the bunions so it will not annoy you. Large warts can be removed by tying a white silk thread around the base of the wart. Thus strangles the circulation in it and it will dry up and drop off in a few days.

N. W.—If the mixture agrees with your skin, there is no harm in using it. If the glycerine makes your face very tender, try the lemon juice alone as this ingredient is the only one in the mixture that has bleaching qualities.

T. A. B.—Massage the scalp with hot crude oil, the night before the regular shampoo. Tie up the head in a towel, to keep from staining the bed linen. Massage your scalp every night or use a vibrator on it several times each week. Hair as dry as yours, shows that the scalp is not secreting enough oil to keep it alive.

Deduction Don'ts.

If you are trying to reduce there are a few little "don'ts" for you to remember, and the first one is—
Don't be discouraged.

After you have systematically reduced for a few weeks you will look at yourself and think you are as fat as ever. You might even get on the scales and find you are fatter. Nature seems to be positively fiendish in this way, one might almost believe she was doing this to test your strength of will. But if you persist you will reduce as soon as your system has become adjusted to the new diet.

Don't be worried if you feel hungry.

Feeling hungry never yet killed anyone. In the case of those who are too stout, the stomach has become distended because it has been holding so much food. In a short time it will shrink to its proper size and then you will not have the feeling of hunger between meals. If it bothers you too much drink glasses of hot or cold water between, but not with meals.

Don't eat more than you should. You can easily find out how much you should weigh and the number of calories of food that you are now eating which is keeping you overweight. Find out how many you should eat to reduce, and stick to that.

Don't taste.
It is hard to resist the first taste, and it is much harder to resist the second. Even a few of these extra tastes will add enormously to the amount of your diet.

E. B. P.—Massage the legs with warm cocoa butter every night, which will nourish the tissues. But as this is of importance to you professionally, why not go to some good physical trainer who will direct you, so you will hasten the development of your limbs?

Broken hearted.—Peroxide of hydrogen will bleach that fine hair and the coarse ones can be pulled out as fast as they show above the skin. Use tweezers for this that are blunt on the ends.

Veronica.—You have developed faster than most girls of your age, but you will not look any older when you are 20 than you do now. Continue to wear your hair in this same simple fashion and do not try to look older than you really are in years.

A. B.—You can positively cure this tendency by taking two yeast cakes each day. I know a number of young men who have not only cleared their skins of pimples, but have improved their health through taking this yeast cure. Take one at night and the other in the morning, dissolved in water.

Miriam B.—Probably your liver is sluggish, which is usually the case when there is that yellow circle around the mouth. A spring tonic will help this. The green vegetables, such as spinach, kale and young onions will also be helpful as they not only provide vitamins but clear the digestive tract.

COURT NEWS

An estate valued at approximately $40,000 in personal property is disposed of by the will of Mrs. Hettie Hubble, which was admitted to probate by Judge J. C. Marshall, Saturday.

The chief legatee of Mrs. Hubble is her son and only child Philip Bruce Hubble, whose portion amounting to two thirds of the estate, left in trust to the executor, F. Harbine Hagenbuch, the testator's brother of Midletown, Ind. The will gives the executor full power to administer the trust fund according to his best judgment, and to use the net income or as much of it as necessary, for the education, maintenance and benefit of the youth until he reaches his majority. After that period the legacy is to be paid to the young man in installments in periods designated in the will, until he reaches the age of 35 years, at which time if he is living he is to receive all the remainder of the estate. In the event of his death without issue his portion is to be divided equally among the brothers and sister of the decedent, F. Harbine Hagenbuch, Dr. William Hagenbuch and Mrs. Jeanette H. Smith.

The will makes a bequest of personal property including jewelry to Mrs. Jeanette H. Smith, sister of the testator, and leaves $500 to the brother F. Harbine Hagenbuch, for services performed by the testator, and $100 to another brother William Hagenbuch. All the household goods and personal property not already bequeathed, and one third of the entire estate is left to the testator's husband F. C. Hubble, absolutely.

The will was executed February 14, 1918. F. Harbine Hagenbuch qualified as executor. The court appointed John A. Nisbet, Lewis E. Stewart and Louie K. Miller as appraisers of the estate.

AMERICAN STAND ON CHINA NOW IS COMMENDED

Washington, July 11.—The recent declaration of the United States to continue its support of the open door in China was commended last night by Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister.

In a statement which contained the text of notes exchanged between his government and the state department, the minister declared it was gratifying to note from Mr. Hughes' reply, "the re-annunciation of the open door policy in China" and that the position of the American government "was sound and could hardly be shaken."

DAYLIGHT SAVING ISSUE WILL NOT REACH PRIMARY

The election of three City Commissioners to succeed Commissioners J. Thorb Charters, C. S. Frazer and Arthur Whalen, whose terms expire December 1, will be the only issue before the people throughout the entire county at the primary, August 9.

Owing to the fact that candidates for Mayor, in towns and villages of less than 2,000 population, cannot go before the primary but must file their petitions to come before the regular election in November only, it is now assured that the people of the county will not have an issue up at the primary election.

In Xenia City, the commission fight promises to be the only issue, and six candidates had filed for the three positions to be vacated, Saturday night. The six candidates are three citizens committee ticket candidates, H. L. Smith, George E. Hudson and M. J. Hartley, and Axel E. Kildow, Dr. H. R. Hawkins, the colored candidate running independently and Chauncey S. M. Daniel.

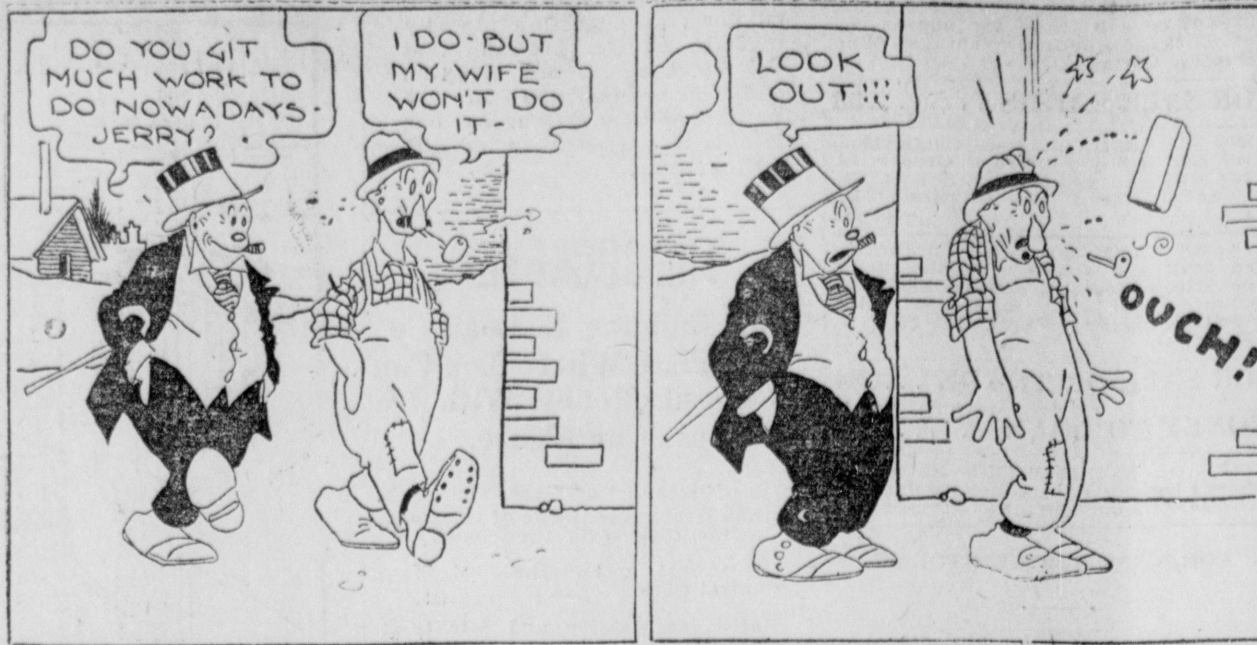

The question of daylight saving as a permanent time arrangement in Xenia city, will not come before the voters at the primary election, according to present indications. At the time the City Commission passed the daylight saving ordinance operative only for this summer, it was stated that the issue would probably be put before the people in a special election at the primary.

Up until Saturday, however, no petitions asking for a vote on that question had been filed with the City Commission or the Board of Elections, and although the time for filing petitions for a special election is not up until twenty days before the primary, there is not now enough time to get such a petition through the official channels required by the city charter it was stated, Saturday afternoon by City Solicitor J. A. Finney.

According to the city charter, the proper procedure to get the question before the people at special election would be to file a petition signed by at least five per cent of the electorate of the city, with the city commission, asking that that body pass it. Then, if the city commission should not pass an ordinance as requested in the petition the charter states: "the committee of petitioners by written demand filed with the clerk of the Commission, not later than 20 days after the final action or inaction, by the Commission, may require that the proposed ordinance be submitted to a vote of the electors in its original form if with, or prior to such a demand, a petition for such election, signed after the final action or inaction, of the Commission is filed with such clerk bearing additional signatures of five per cent of the electors of the city, and shall also within five days certify to the officers having control of elections the proposed ordinance, stating whether or not a special election is demanded in the petitions, the percentage of voters who signed the two petitions in the aggregate and date on which he published the notice last mentioned."

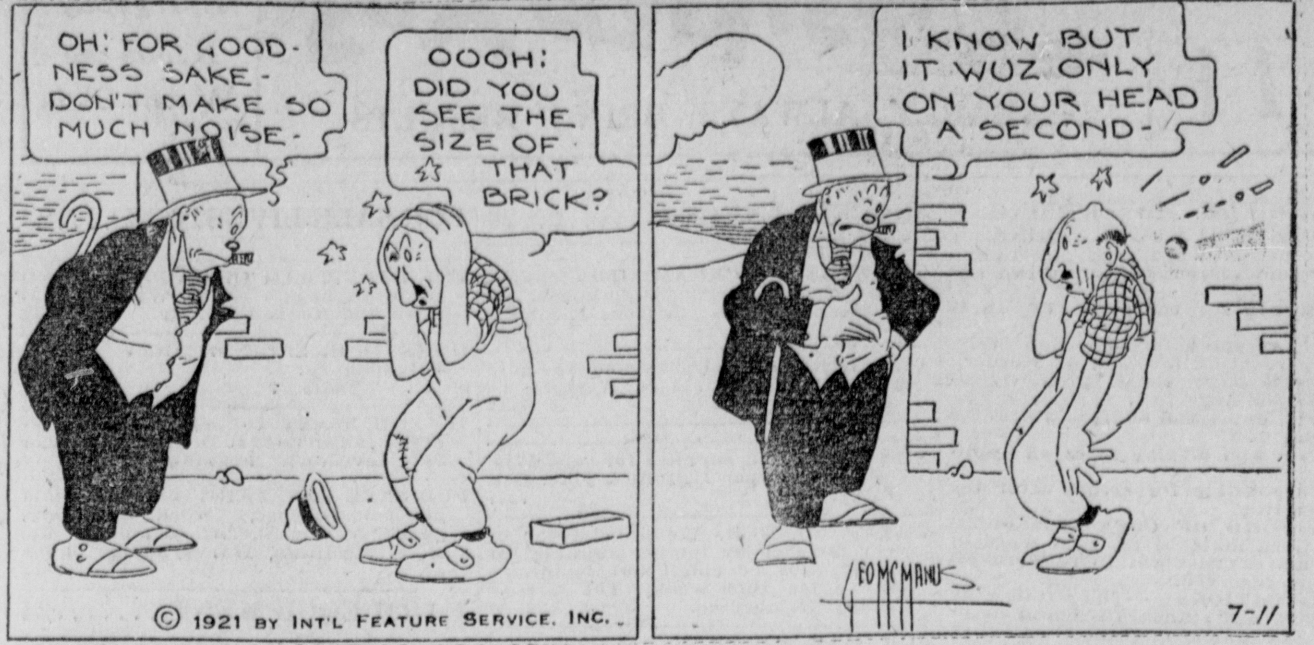

According to a ruling of City

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

I'd like to stand on a mental hill

Solicitor J. A. Finney, the Commission has no active part in bringing such a question before the people by vote, and if any interest is to be aroused in a special election to decide such an issue, it will have to be taken by citizens interested, through the regular channel of petitions.

Although it is now too late to carry out the procedure provided in the charter before the August primary, there is still plenty of time to bring the issue before the public at the regular election in November according to Mr. Finney. In case the question is not taken up by the citizens, it is believed that the present Commission will let the ordinance die at the time prescribed this fall and leave the question of having daylight saving next summer up to the new commission which will then be in office.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

"So that's what you call a 'casserole,' is it?" said a dear little lady friend of mine who had come from her farm home to pay me a visit. "Humph! It's the same old covered baking dish that I've always used, and my mother before me, and my grandmother before her." And we both laughed merrily because it was true. The much-talked-of "casserole" is just the age old covered baking dish, only rigged up with a silver or nickel holder, and made in a variety of attractive wares.

If you have never tried cooking in a casserole, I advise you to get one. There are a number of strong arguments in their favor. In homes where the father of the family cannot always get home from business promptly at dinner time, the casserole solves the problem of keeping his dinner hot for him; the other members of the family may be served from the casserole, then the cover put on, and the dish slipped back into the oven to keep warm till father comes.

Ordinarily, however, the casserole goes straight to the table from the oven. This saves soiling a meat platter or vegetable dish and lightens the task of dish-washing just so much.

"Please tell me just which vegetables may be cooked in a casserole," say so many letters from my readers. They do not seem to grasp the fact that all vegetables may be cooked in it. Many housewives use it daily for their dinner vegetables. Such vegetables as asparagus, cauliflower, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, kale, onions, parsnips, peas, potatoes, salsify, sweet corn, rutabagas, Swiss chard and turnips, are perhaps best when cooked in the casserole in a cream sauce made by using one tablespoon of flour to one cup of sweet milk, adding seasoning to suit taste, and a small lump of butter.

Cook with the cover on, and keep notes regarding the exact time it took you to cook such and such an amount of a certain vegetable in an oven just so hot. I cannot give you a time-table for this kind of cookery because casseroles vary so much in size, and the surest way is to keep your own casserole cooking-chart, never failing to make notes of every successful experiment. Your kind of range, too, will make a difference in the length of the baking period.

There are many vegetables that are delicious also when merely simmered in the casserole in one or two cups of water, seasoned with salt, pepper and either meat drippings or butter. These vegetables are: asparagus, beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, kale, kohlrabi, onions, parsnips, peas, potatoes, rutabagas, spinach, squash, sweet corn, Swiss chard, tomatoes and turnips.

It will be seen that this is a much better way of boiling a vegetable than on top of a range, as we usually boil them, in too much water. When vegetables are simmered in this way, the food materials which are needed by the body are best preserved. For in boiling in a saucepan from which we drain the water after the vegetable is cooked, many of the food constituents—the vitamins, or mineral salts—which build bone, blood and aid in growth, are wasted in the water which is drained away.

There are three more good arguments for the casserole, which I will take up at some future time at greater length. These are: 1, The cheaper meats are made tender by being cooked in a casserole, 2, The one-dish dinner is supreme in a casserole, 3, Left-overs of all kinds can be disguised most attractively by the use of this covered baking dish.

Why hens go on a strike!

When hens do not receive both the white and yolk-forming elements in their feed, they cannot lay.

Missouri Experiment Station tests with 100 lbs. of an average mixed grain feed produced about 224 yolks to 154 whites. Based on data from these experiments, Purina formulas make (above bodily maintenance), as follows:

Purina Hen Chow	247.49 yolks	142.11 whites
Purina Chicken Chowder	182.05 yolks	282.55 whites
Combined Ration	429.54 yolks	424.66 whites

These Purina Chows not only make a practically equal number of whites and yolks but make more of both than ordinary feeds.

Note that Purina Chicken Chowder contains the necessary white-forming elements to balance up the yolk-making grain ration. That's why it makes hens lay so heavily. Purina Chicken Chowder supplies plenty of white for all the yolks in the hen's body, thus insuring a maximum egg yield. That's why we can absolutely guarantee more eggs or money back on Purina Poultry Chows if fed as directed. You take no risk.
